UPDATED	TEXAS FRANCHISE TAX REFORM		The TRSA Tax Task Force is making an effort to redefine retail trade to include the commercial laundry industry in regard to the Texas tax code. For tax reports due on or after Jan. 1, 2008, the Texas legislature enacted a Revised Franchise Tax, commonly referred to as a “Margin Tax.” This Margin Tax expanded the scope of the tax to nearly all businesses, lowered the tax rate and is based on an entity’s taxable margin. Prior to enactment of the legislation, the franchise tax was primarily applicable to corporations and LLCs and was based on taxable capital and earned surplus. In Texas, there is a margin tax rate for qualifying retailers and wholesalers of .375% and a margin tax rate of .75% for everyone else, including the commercial laundry industry.	 Hire Texas Legislative Representation. TRSA is organizing laundries in Texas to educate state legislators and regulators on the commercial laundry process and the positive impact this change would have.	Hired Texas legislative consultant State Rep. 	INDIANA WAGE ASSESSMENT ACT REFORM		The Indiana Wage Assignment Act of 2015 lays out what items are allowable for deducting wages from an employee’s paycheck. While the actual language specifically mentions only the purchasing of uniforms, The Indiana Department of Labor Wage and Hour Division has interpreted the law to allow for both the purchase and rental of uniforms. This confusion has resulted in the filing of lawsuits against employers and laundry providers for inappropriately deducting employee wages.	 TRSA is organizing laundries in Indiana to educate state legislators and regulators on the commercial laundry process and need to reform the legislation. Work with the Indiana Chamber of Commerce to reform the Act.	Secured State Sen.
